

Last week Enniskillen put a team of over-35 "legends" together and travelled to face Lurgan Legends.

The Legends league consists of 4 matches, 2 home and 2 away, with the league winner then going into a semi final with the other winners.

This format gives the more mature player who hasn't played in a while and who perhaps can't commit to every Saturday as well as those semi-retired the chance to play some fairly competitive rugby.

You might think with age players lose the competitive spirit but no, as with riding a bike you never forget how, and as the whistle went the competitive glint was back in their eye.

It was a great game of rugby with some great skill and players still with an eye for a gap. Enniskillen were first on the score board but Lurgan soon replied with some great rugby themselves. At the final whistle Enniskillen just pipped Lurgan with a late surge of tries and one that would certainly stand out as try of the season so far.

Starting in their own "22" quick ruck ball was moved to Ross Duncan on the crash then some offloading out of the tackle and great passing along the line found Jimmy Moore on the wing, who "glided" 60 metres to score, magnificent stuff!

As Enniskillen have come in at late notice for a team that couldn't field, the remainder of the games will be re-scheduled for February and March. Anyone who would like to play give Jimmy Moore, Gary Law or Rob Watson a call.
